Bonjour

Childhood memories of time spent at my grandmother's house and at my parent's home in France have inspired my way of living. I have proudly recreated my French Chic spirit in my line for A&B Home, indoor and outdoor...

Whimsical rabbits are hopping in the field. Charming statues and stately urns adorn the garden. Zinc tables go from inside to outside for a movable feast. Old world screens bring a touch of glamor. Wall clocks in all sizes make it so French, and large lanterns in an array of colors cast a soft light for a chic life.

These charming pieces are essential elements for creating a seductive heaven, full of joie de vivre.

My wish is that my ever growing line will be the setting for long-lasting memories for your friends and family for years to come.

La vie est belle!

Lovely French Words To Use Everyday

---

Throughout this catalog, I've used a sprinkling of French words; some will be familiar to you. For those of you who do not know the French language, these are lovely words that the French have used everyday for hundreds of years.

Quality of life and living well, regardless of your budget, are two essentials of French Chic Living. Embracing small pleasures will enhance your everyday life.

Drink delicious tea in a whimsical teapot, serve dinner on a charming plate, store oranges and apples in a pretty basket in the kitchen, bring fragrant lilac or lavender into the bedroom, read poetry or a good book in your favorite chair. Take the time to smell the roses.

Affordable luxury comes in many tangible and non- tangible ways. Lovely words are priceless; they cost nothing, but enrich every moment. This is the Art of French Chic Living.

Voila {Tada! or Here it is!}

Showcase a favored statues in front of a grand window where sunshine can shower it with due attention during the day. Add some grand pedestal candle holders to bathe the statue in a more ambient light in the evening.

Select an arrangement of candle holders that match the stature of the statue but are also at a convenient height for lighting and snuffing out. The ideal is to place candles between table and shoulder level with the light at about eye level. This creates a sense of intimacy no matter the size of the room.

3-Panel Screens

Plein de charme!

Folding screens became the fashion in France and other parts of Europe in the 17th and 18th centuries. Initially used in front of doors and beds to deter cold winds, the three-panel screens - or paravents- also found use as a dressing area for women.

Today, the three panel screen largely serves decorative needs in the home. It can help a large space become more intimate by partitioning off sections. Or, it can be used as a strong architectural element in a room with tall ceilings.

Bonne Idée!

Use our mirrored screens to enhance the size of a room and add pizzazz. These screens use classic French decorative graphics that add a feel of sophistication.

"Once I had recognized the taste of the crumb of Madeleine soaked in her decoction of lime flowers which my aunt used to give me ....

Immediately the old gray house upon the street, where her room was, rose up like the scenery of a theater."

Madeleines

This recipe makes about 2 dozen Madeleines

1 cup granulated sugar
4 eggs
1 teaspoon rum
1 cup all- purpose flour
1 1/4 sticks unsalted butter
1 tablespoon confectioner's sugar

In a small bowl combine the sugar and eggs. Stir in the rum. Add flour, and mix thoroughly.

Melt butter in a small saucepan or bain marie (double boiler) on low heat.

Add the melted butter to the egg mixture and beat until blended. Set aside for 15 minutes. Then, pour the mixture into Madeleine molds.

Bake in a preheated oven at 350 F. for about 10 minutes, or until golden.

It is very important to not bake in a convection oven. Remove the molds from the oven. Cool the Madeleines on a baking rack, and sprinkle confectioner's sugar on top when still warm.

Florence's truc on Madeleine molds - if possible, find the soft plastic type, they are the easiest ones to use.

Chinoiserie Lighting

The influence of Chinese architecture and design on French style can be seen in these pagoda-shaped lanterns. The popularity of Chinese influence came into vogue in the 17th and 18th centuries as people began to learn more about global cultures. The imprint of chinois influence remains on French style as seen in these metal lanterns.

Chandeliers with their branches surrounded by glass are called lanterns. They were highly prized in the 18th and 19th century. Originally used to illuminate hallways and staircases, lanterns were soon placed in dining room as well. Now they add style and drama to any locations. These great lanterns in a variety of colors add a touch of whimsy and are just so chic.

Chic Quiche

Serve 6

- ¼ teaspoon unsalted butter
- One 9-inch store bought pie crust
- 3 eggs
- 1 cup of milk (or heavy cream)
- 1 cup whipped cream cheese
- ½ pound Swiss cheese, grated
- 2 slices ham (smoked Black Forest is preferable) cut into small pieces
- ¼ teaspoon fresh thyme leaves, coarsely chopped
- Coarse sea salt, a pinch
- Freshly ground black pepper, a pinch

Butter a 9-inch ceramic pie dish. Place the piecrust inside. In a small bowl, thoroughly mix eggs, milk, and cream cheese. Add Swiss cheese and ham. Sprinkle the thyme, salt, and pepper on top. Bake in a preheated 350 F. oven until crust is brown, about 45 minutes. Remove dish from oven. Serve warm.

Grated Carrots

Serve 6

- 6 carrots, peeled
- Vinaigrette Classique
- ½ bunch fresh flat-leaf parsley, finely chopped

Insert each carrot into the garter attachment of a Cuisinart or other food processor. When the carrots have been coarsely grated, transfer them into a medium size serving bowl. Add the vinaigrette and mix well. For additional colors sprinkle parsley on top.

Florence's truc on Chic Quiche - It is important to use whipped cream cheese, it will make your quiche very light and fluffy. For Grated Carrots - Choose some fresh small carrots. Gently wash your carrots, cut the ends and keep the skin. It is where all the vitamins are. For Vinaigrette - It is always good to make the vinaigrette in advance. Keep it stored in a jam jar in the pantry for a couple of months. You can also place a sprig of rosemary in the vinaigrette jar to infuse it with extra flavor. Never put the vinaigrette jar in the refrigerator.

Vinaigrette Classique

- 1 teaspoon Dijon mustard
- 1 teaspoon balsamic vinegar
- 4 teaspoon extra-virgin olive oil
- Coarse sea salt, a pinch
- Freshly ground black pepper, a pinch
- Fresh Thyme, a pinch
- Optional: 1 large garlic clove peeled

Put mustard in a small bowl. Add vinegar and oil and mix well. Add salt, pepper, and thyme. Transfer to an empty jar. (an old, clean mason jar is good) Cover and shake well. For stronger flavor you can add a garlic clove.
